Arts Central & the Art Station

313 SW Shevlin Hixon Dr., 541-617-1317

First Friday will run from 10am-12pm and the theme will be Experimental Painting. Kick off First Friday with a family-friendly activity at the Art Station! Kids and adults can get creative with a self-guided art activity with one of our instructors. Special morning sessions from 10am-12pm are perfect for homeschoolers. Evening sessions from 4-6pm offer art making in one studio and adult refreshments in the other! Adults, please accompany youth under 18 at all times.

Art in the Atrium, Franklin Crossing

550 NW Franklin

Paintings by inmates of Oregon correctional institutions to benefit Ugandan orphan children of Otino-Waa Children's Village. Thru January.

Founded in 2003 by Carol and Bob Higgins of Bend, dedicated employees, native Ugandans, volunteers and worldwide beneficiaries now continue its success. Some 280 children live and attend primary, secondary and vocational school, with some graduates continuing with higher education or skilled work in the community.

Visions of Hope (VOH), directed by Dale and Sandy Russel in Bend, embraces the unique task of supporting Otino-Waa by joining its children and Oregon inmates with the world. In its sixth year,

Visions of Hope—African Woman

All of the galleries/businesses listed in this section will be open for First Friday Art Walk, from 5-8pm.

(Red Chair is 5-9pm)

See the CascadeAE App for map of galleries

VOH, a volunteer organization, organizes the sale of art voluntarily created by inmates statewide as a fund raiser for the village children. This artwork is available for purchase at Franklin Crossing during December and all proceeds go to benefit the children. Inmates from several locations not only donate artwork but actively sponsor the children.

Unique in the world, Visions of Hope exemplifies the impact that individuals can make in the lives of others. In a gentle way, art can change the world.

For additional information contact Visions of Hope, Dale Russell, at VOH@bendbroadband.com. Billye Turner, art consultant, curates the Franklin Crossing displays with info at 503-780-2828 or billyeturner@bendnet.com.

Atelier 6000

389 SW Scalehouse Ct., Ste. 120, 541-330-8759, www.atelier6000.com

100+ original prints for December's annual member exhibit, Print Salon. Inspired by the European tradition of salon-style shows, A6 will hang work from the floor to the ceiling. Thru December 24.

"This exhibit really showcases the breadth and variety of our artist members," explains Dawn Boone, A6's executive director. "It illustrates the gamut of artistic possibilities in printmaking."

Holiday shoppers should definitely visit Print Salon. A6 is selling work right off the walls, so shoppers can snag a favorite work of art in time for Christmas. For that reason, shoppers may want to visit the gallery more than once.

Print Salon will be A6's last exhibit at its Scalehouse Court location. In January, A6 will open its doors in the nearby Old Mill Marketplace.

Admission is free to the A6 Gallery. Mondays-Fridays 10-7pm, Saturdays 10-6pm and Sundays 12-5pm.

Of Purpose and Passion, Troy Collins and Bart Walker share the spotlight. Stop by on First Friday to visit with the artists and view their new body of work thru December.

Troy is a native of Montana and Bart's home is in Teton Valley, Idaho. Both love the rugged outdoors, and they find inspiration in the boundless beauty of nature. They are both avid plein air painters. Troy's loose impressionistic style complements Bart's exquisitely detailed paintings. Both are stellar artists who bring passion and dedication to their art.

Troy works mainly with a palette knife resulting in a thick impasto of color. He studies and paints the landscape—especially aspens—in every season. Bart's beautifully detailed paintings are reminiscent of early California landscapes, alive with deft brushwork and soft nuances of light.

Oxford Hotel

10 NW Minnesota Ave., 541-382-8436

Marjorie Wood Hamlin's abstract collage of copper and gold foil, accented with gold leaf, on canvas. Hamlin will be present at the champagne opening on First Friday. Thru January.

Hamlin creates her collage by covering varied sized canvases with copper foil then adding abstracted or geometric designs of gold foil, often accented by 24-karat gold leaf. Her unique process results in subtle, layered imagery with a highly reflective surface that encourages viewer interaction to discern her innovative technique.

The artist's career spans 20+ years and includes a BA in Applied Art and Art History from Willamette University as well as study with Stanford University in Venice, Italy. She has shown in the Women in Art Invitational, NY, NY and exhibited by invitation at the Florence Italy Contemporary Biennale, a United Nations program to foster understanding among nations through culture.

The lobby exhibition is open during all hours. Billye Turner, art consultant, coordinates the Oxford Hotel exhibition schedule. Contact Turner at 541-382-9398.

Red Chair Gallery

103 NW Oregon Ave., 541-306-3176, www.redchairgallerybend.com

Ten percent of all sales at Red Chair Gallery during December go to Bethlehem Inn, a non-denominational, community-based facility providing shelter, help and hope to those experiencing homelessness in Central Oregon.

Painting by Sue Lyon-Manley

Three local artists are featured during December: Denise Harrison of Sterling Echoes strives to create memorable jewelry that starts from photographs and/or drawings. Using a multi-step process including etching, lost wax casting, fabrication, stone setting and handmade chains; intriguing textures are captured in silver. Her process gives her the opportunity to solidify her memories (or those of her customers) in jewelry.

Jewelry by Denise Harrison

For Tricia Biesmann and Lucinda Summerfield of The Way We Art, creating beautiful wearable art is a real joy. They use a nuno felting process of combining natural materials with unspun yarn (roving) by wet felting them together until they are bonded. Colors, textures and imagination know no boundaries! They are grateful to their friends in Thailand, Ireland and Shanghai for inspiration for this show.

Wearable art by Tricia Biesmann & Lucinda Summerfield

Sue Lyon-Manley's work reflects an emotional reaction to her surroundings and her relationship to it. Her landscapes are primarily painted en plein air while her other work is derived from objects or scenes that she interacts with on a personal level in her day-to-day life.

One wall in the gallery will be filled with small works art that is affordable gifts for your loved one or just for you! Shopping at Red Chair Gallery does good things for you, your Christmas list and your entire community. Thank you for supporting the arts.

Carissa@Townshendstea.com

A Bend native and artist Molly Hungerford displays her colorful and whimsical art at Townshend's Bend Teahouse in her exhibition entitled Luminescent Wonder.

An adventurer and explorer, Hungerford has impulsively bought one-way tickets to other states soaking up the atmosphere and sensations and to return to Bend with the realization that it is her favorite place to be for now. Fly fishing and hiking inspired Hungerford, meeting her soul mate Luke and the birth of their daughter roused her artistically more than ever before. Working from intuition, Hungerford creates her artwork with her muse, her daughter, nearby.

Bohdi Sunrise by Molly Hungerford

"My daughter is the most colorful and magical burst of energy that fuels my art, the magic of her drives my paintbrush," Hungerford comments. "I live my life through color; tangible color and emotional color. So here I am now, a stay at home mom with a perfect little human to cheer me on and inspire me to paint every day."
