FINDING THE VIEW BEFORE THE PAINTING

The places that become these paintings aren't discovered in a studio — they're earned step by step, often well beyond the end of a lift line or the comfort of a marked trail. From a sunlit bench outside a closed alpine hut in Austria to pre-dawn climbs through frozen timber in Central Oregon, each scene begins as a lived moment shaped by weather, terrain, and curiosity. These journeys — quiet, deliberate and sometimes a little cinematic — are where observation turns into image, and experience becomes paint.

Dave Wachs shared with Cascade A&E Magazine how each of these art pieces was discovered — through travel, exploration and firsthand experience in the landscapes that ultimately shaped the paintings.

◀◀ On the Cover: ▶▶ Near Wildspitze

"The 007 James Bond Elements was an interesting experience in Soden, Austria but the next day we visited the tiny hamlet of Vent, in the Oetztal region of Tyrol. Ascending the southeast-facing slope above timberline on one of the two chairlifts, we saw vague skin tracks leaving the ski area and pointed towards a cluster of small stone buildings a couple thousand feet above the top terminal. Our curiosity lured us upward, and we imagined ourselves in one of the 007 movies, either escaping or pursuing some to-be-determined adventure. Traveling slowly upwards away from the quiet little ski area and towards the historic stone buildings was an enjoyable couple hours on delightful snow. The Breslauer Hütte built in 1892 is closed for business today but has a south-facing patio sheltered from the wind with a nice bench in the sun. Boots off to dry out for a few minutes I used my binoculars as a fake telephoto lens on my cell phone to capture the magnificent peaks and glaciers across the valley. It looked like a scene from a James Bond movie back in the 1960s, kind of shaky and slightly out of focus. This endeavor became the painting you see on the cover of this month's Cascade A&E Magazine."

◀◀ Mt. Bachelor Cornice

Every year for the past 25 or so, David has captured the cornice and other familiar scenes on Mt. Bachelor as subject matter for in-the-studio work. "The cornice is always in the same place but never the same shape," he says. The layers of snow tell one version of the winter at this elevation on the volcano west of Bend as storms travel from the Pacific Ocean, over the coast range and the Willamette Valley to rip across the north face of Mt. Bachelor. Laminated by the occasional freezing rain event, cold, high-quality snow is cataloged like pages in a book to be considered on a sunny spring day skiing. Pine Marten Lodge has the space to exhibit these large canvas works, and small reproductions are available through his website.

Deadman's Peak

"Dark in the morning, thick trees, thin frozen snow and ice, on foot carrying skis, following my new friend Mike up into the alpine, I see from the house every clear day without weather or fog. It's not hard-core gnarly or easy, the view across the drainage on our left constrains our attention, and the avalanche evidence patterns of broken timber laid sideways across the fall line of the steep slope because they were blasted off loudly when the entire basin tore loose and hurled months of snow stacked and drifted down valley. Deadman's Peak connects on a map to Twin Peak using a single ridge; looks easy, less than a mile, loss and gain less than 1,000'. Someday..."

COCC Unveils Bare Limbs Art Show

Central Oregon Community College continues showing its winter art exhibition, Bare Limbs, a collection of fine art photography by Breezy Winters, through March 16 at the Bend campus's Barber Library Rotunda Gallery, with a reception from 4-5:30pm on Wednesday, January 14. This is free and open to the public.

"Bare Limbs is an emotional landscape of all the facets of being a mother, wife and woman," said the artist in a statement. "We create life, step through a rite of passage through trauma, sustain life, nurture, work, pour out and give entirely of ourselves. This is for all women to help remind you that you are not alone, you are amazing in all the abilities you have been given, and most importantly bring light and affirmation to all your struggles."

A fine arts instructor at COCC, where she teaches darkroom photography, digital photography and professional portfolio, Winters is a graduate of Lake Tahoe Community College, and earned both a bachelor's in visual journalism and a master of fine arts in fine art photography from the Brooks Institute.

Joe Feddersen: Earth, Water, Sky Career Retrospective continues through January 18, 2026. Place is at the heart of everything artist Joe Feddersen creates. Plateau imagery, such as mountains and animals, is juxtaposed with chain-link fences, high-voltage towers, and power lines. Indigenous themes and contemporary life intertwine on baskets, prints, ceramics and glass. The exhibition shares close to 100 pieces from Feddersen's (b. 1953, Confederated Tribes of the Colville Reservation) prolific career. Joe Feddersen: Earth, Water, Sky encompasses four decades of his career, from wall-sized installations to miniatures and baskets.

Continuing through February 15, 2026: Hollow and Still: Photographs Following Fire by David Paul Bayles. In September 2020, the Holiday Farm Fire, driven by fierce east winds, burned 173,000 acres along the forested McKenzie River canyon in the Cascades of Oregon. Continuing a year-long exhibition series that focuses on the emotional impact of wildfire, Hollow and Still brings together a special collection of photographs from acclaimed photographer David Paul Bayles, one of the first to capture images following the fire.

We provide an open space to where you can come in and get taught by the staff, local artists or feel free to do your own thing. You are more than welcome to walk in during our business hours posted to utilize our space and resources. We encourage local artists with their own projects or resources to come in and use our space alongside us as well. Additionally, we cater to parties, whether it be a birthday, ladies night out or workplace team building. Our main projects we have to offer consist of terrarium building, taxidermy bug shadow box assembly, acrylic painting, watercolor painting and quite a few side projects at your disposal. Also, we theme special monthly projects into our schedule, so be on the lookout. Our projects are all age-friendly, so feel free to bring in the kids or your parents for a unique experience. As far as typical, First Friday at ISoMiMo Art Studio consists of different refreshments while you explore the space around you. We try to rotate four local artists through our space to keep things interesting for returning guests, but also to get the artists some exposure. Lastly, we open our walls up to other artists around Bend just in case they can't make it to First Friday.

As the New Year begins, twin artists Lori and Lisa Lubbesmeyer will be continuing their work on a series created in mixed media — incorporating their 27 years of working in textiles, stitching, paint and various drawing media. In this series, the twins remain committed to their collaborative process of layering and building over each other's work, allowing the composition to reveal itself as each twin reacts to the newly added layers. And while one twin focuses on the figurative works in progress, the other will be turning her attention to a large winter landscape fiber 'painting.'

TEN-YEAR-OLD BEND AUTHOR

Releases New Edition of His Book, with More Adventures Ahead

Ten-year-old Bend author Claughton “Claw” Hnyp has published a new edition of his book, Claw, Foster and the Water Park, marking an exciting milestone in his growing writing journey.

Originally released in third person, the story is now available in two editions, including a newly released first-person version that gives readers a more immersive and personal perspective on the adventure. “I wanted to tell the story the way it was to me, so readers can feel more like they’re part of the adventure,” said Claw.

Claw, Foster and the Water Park is a kid-friendly adventure that follows Claw and Foster on a fun-filled day at the water park, packed with imagination, humor, and heart. The book is recommended for readers ages 8-12 and is available on Amazon.

Claw is already working on additional Claw, Foster adventure books, with hopes to publish more stories in 2026, showing that his storytelling journey is just beginning. He hopes his work will inspire other kids to explore their own storytelling talents.

OLD MILL DISTRICT Unveils New Second-Floor Art Series

A new art installation in the Old Mill District invites visitors to slow down, explore, and take a closer look at the natural beauty in Central Oregon.

Created by artists Lori and Lisa Lubbesmeyer, the four-piece series captures the intricate details of nature along the Deschutes River. Each painting offers a familiar view of the living world — the shimmer of a salmon, the texture of leaves, the pattern of a butterfly's wing, and the glimpse of a bee — encouraging viewers to pause and ponder the small wonders that play a role in the area's ecosystem.

The paintings hang outdoors along the second-floor catwalk above Sweet Tooth Candy Shoppe and Wild Child, near the Lubbesmeyer Art Studio & Gallery, which first opened in the Old Mill District 17 years ago.

The Old Mill District commissioned the Lubbesmeyers to create the series. "We're always looking for creative ways to beautify the district," said Beau Eastes, marketing director at the Old Mill District. "This installation brings art into an unexpected space. It's a small surprise that we hope will make people smile when they find it."

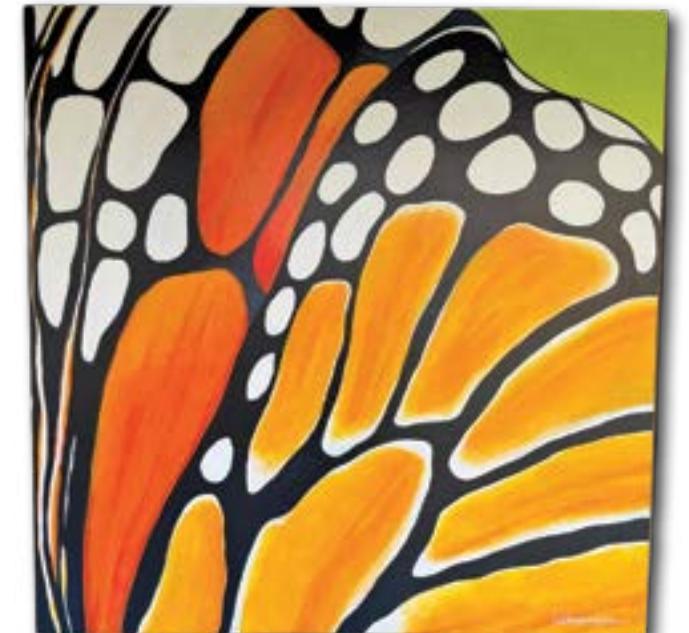

The Lubbesmeyer sisters, who are trained in oil painting and printmaking, are best known for their collaborative "fiber paintings" which combine fabric, thread, and texture into richly layered compositions. For this four-piece series, they returned to painting, a medium Lisa Lubbesmeyer says allowed for larger scale and a sense of immediacy. "These pieces are meant to draw people in," she said. "They're about looking closely at color, at texture, and the details that connect everything in nature. That's how we see the Old Mill District, too, a living ecosystem of people, creativity, and environment."

Each painting was created through the sisters' distinctive process of layering over one another's work until neither can add more. This is a method that mirrors the collaboration and balance the identical twins have built over their 26 years of working together.

According to Lisa, the sisters were thrilled to be asked to create these pieces, which they feel are representative of their gratitude and their legacy within the Old Mill District.

"We've called this place home for nearly two decades," she said. "To leave something permanent here feels like giving back to a community that's given so much to us."

RED CHAIR GALLERY CLOSES

Saying Goodbye to a Staple of the Local Art World

by NOAH NELSON — A&E Feature Writer

Red Chair Gallery, the beloved art gallery that has occupied the corner of NW Bond and Oregon in Downtown Bend for the last 16 years, will be closing its doors at the start of this new year. The gallery's manager/owner, Rita Dunlavy, is retiring, and there are no plans for anyone to step in to maintain the gallery.

However, following Rita's eternal philosophy that Red Chair Gallery exists for the artists, there are plans to maintain the website and the domain name; this way, Red Chair Gallery will exist as an online space, still dedicated to the wellbeing of the artists themselves. The website won't offer any sales options, but it will help community members and artists connect with one another, collaborate and sell their work on their own websites.

Red Chair Gallery withstood plenty over the years. From the Great Recession of 2008 to the COVID-19 Pandemic and the resulting lockdowns, the family of artists at Red Chair have always looked out for one another, and helped keep not just the gallery, but each other, afloat. Through it all, Red Chair Gallery stood as an establishment that always prioritized the artists first. After years of awards, commendations and stories written about the gallery, Rita would always tell any writer or photographer to take a picture of the gallery, not of her. Her goal as the owner was never to get her own face known, or to achieve some sort of acclaim. All of her energy went towards what was best for the gallery, and the artists.

Over the years, Red Chair Gallery collected an amazing group of creatives. Rita helped gather a diverse group of artists in a way that limited competition. Each artist had their style, their niche and they didn't compete with one another to take a potential sale from another artist. Instead, they fostered a culture of collaboration, and creativity. Customers over the years constantly remarked about the amazing customer service, and how artists were so excited to talk about and share their craft.

As for Rita, she's never been one to take the spotlight. Still, many in the community are curious about what she will get up to in her retirement. According to Rita, she is pursuing the freedom that comes with finally not having a plan. From enjoying the sunrise with a cup of coffee, planting flowers in her yard or driving over a thousand miles to visit her son, whatever she does will be something she enjoys, and something that she chose for herself. With no plan in place, her plan is to enjoy all of the beauty and spontaneity that comes with freedom.

And lastly, Rita would tell all the artists and creatives she met over the years, and all the artists who still have their work on the Red Chair website, "Don't forget, this is your gallery. It always was, and it always will be."

PAINT & THE POWER OF STORYTELLING

Celebrated Artist

K.C. SNIDER

by KRIS HORN & DINA RHODEN

In a home studio in Redmond, surrounded by the high desert's craggy beauty, K.C. Snider brings stories to life. A prominent Western artist, illustrator, and teacher, Snider's art has focused mainly on capturing the rugged splendor and untamed spirit of the American West. "I've always been a storyteller," K.C. says. "Even when I'm creating fine art, it feels like illustration to me because every painting is a tale waiting to be told. Maybe that's why the narratives in my work always feel so vivid." Her unmistakably representational style often depicts running horses, cowboys in motion, and undisturbed wildlife, featuring buffaloes and moose.

Influenced by legends like Norman Rockwell, John Clymer, and Frank McCarthy, K.C. infuses her paintings with warmth, nostalgia, and a meticulous attention to detail. "These artists shaped how I see storytelling in art," she shares. "It's not just about the subjects — it's about capturing the spirit behind them." Rockwell was one of the first artists who helped me see how art could tell a story — that understanding, combined with my awe and love for the West, shaped much of my career."

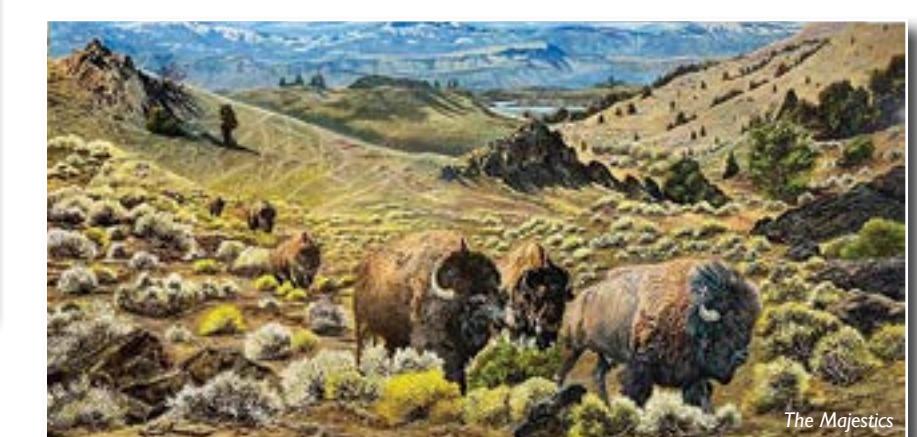

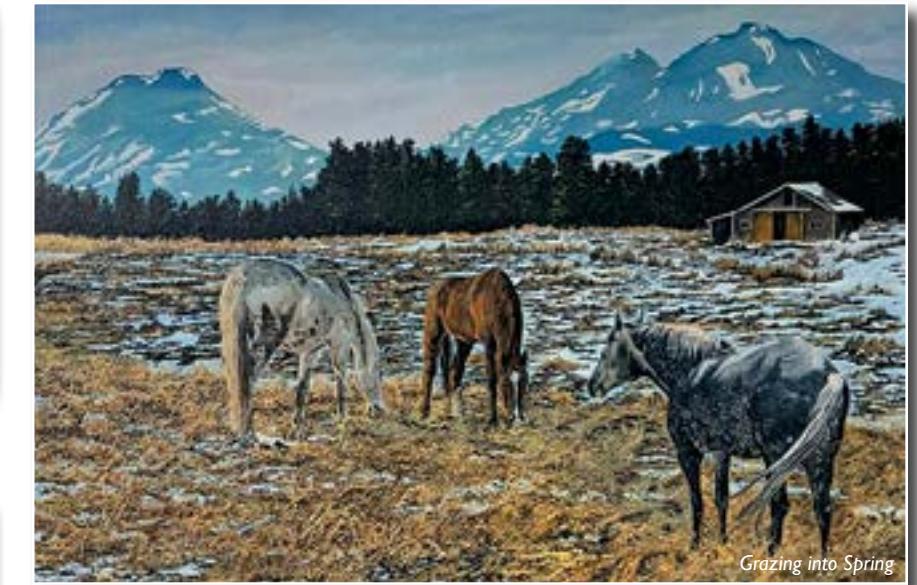

K.C.'s artistic journey began at the early age of ten. Her parents were delighted by her talent for drawing, and later, in high school, two supportive art teachers also inspired K.C. to pursue her passion professionally. K.C. graduated with honors from The Eugene School of Art, with the idea of becoming a commercial illustrator. However, the joyless compromises she encountered in the field pushed her toward fine art.

When K.C. met her husband and started a family, she put her art career on hold for a few years. "But I couldn't stop creating," she said. "Making art for me is like breathing. Fred and I were among the first founders of Dry Canyon Arts Association, and as my husband, he supported me in every way." As a skilled carpenter, Fred matted and framed all her work during their 57 years of marriage. "He believed in what I did and made sure I always had a platform. We traveled together to Western art shows all over the U.S. and even across Hawaii."

K.C.'s talent isn't confined to gallery walls. For nearly 15 years, she was a full-time illustrator for Guardian Angel Publishing, collaborating with authors around the globe to bring over 20 children's books to life. Her whimsical illustrations have earned her numerous awards and a loyal following of admirers. One of her career highlights included working on Rick Steber's The Last Outlaw.

Though she's widely recognized for her Western-themed oil paintings, K.C. is a masterful chameleon with her choice of medium. She enjoys using acrylics, pastel, pencil, gouache, and watercolors. Whether it's her pastels bringing soft, rolling prairie hills to life, her oils that pull us into the grit of cowboy culture, or her watercolor book illustrations capturing a child's curiosity, K.C. says, "I love experimenting. Each medium tells a story in its own way."

These days, though, her focus has shifted back to fine art and her love of the high desert's history. Inspired by Central Oregon's Redmond Caves and surrounding state parks, she's left her mark on local communities, with several pieces displayed in city halls and other exhibitions. She attributes her staying power to discipline and passion. "I've learned to approach my art like a career, not a hobby," K.C. explains. "Meeting deadlines and being consistent are lessons I learned as a commercial artist, and they carry over even now."

K.C.'s career also included many years as a college art instructor for Lane and Linn-Benton Community Colleges. Her advice for emerging artists: "Find your tribe. Surround yourself with other creatives — it makes all the difference."

Dry Canyon Arts Association is proud to present K.C. Snider's work as the featured artist during January at the Dry Canyon Community Art Center. The public is invited to attend a reception in her honor at the Art Center on First Friday, January 2, 2026 from 4-7pm.

A Quintessentially Local CULINARY ADVENTURE

by LINDEN GROSS — One Stop Writing Shop

After years of people begging Brasada Ranch, the stunning resort east of Bend, to keep their fine dining open during the winter, you can now head to Wild Rye four days a week. You owe it to yourself to go.

Executive chef and culinary director Karl Holl, a New England Culinary Institute graduate, arrived in Central Oregon three years ago by way of celebrated restaurants in Napa Valley, Vail and San Francisco and his famed Portland pop-up. He has created an astounding menu that reflects the High Desert as well as the state as a whole.

Dinner for my friend and me began with magical Tillamook oysters from Netarts Bay. I usually only top my oysters with lemon. These came pre-dressed in a mignonette kissed with huckleberry and gold dust. I'm a convert.

We had to try the wild rye rolls, especially since they're served with smoked butter, radishes and juniper honey. "OMG!" I exclaimed. Who says that about a roll? Ever.

We continued to make our way down the shareable and small plates menus.

I'm still dreaming of the Dungeness crab topped with Osetra caviar in a pool of light leek vichyssoise with herb oil and lemon. Downright addictive.

The grilled albacore crudo with mini cubes of Asian pear, matsutake, habanada (a habanero with the heat bred out of it), chili crisp, lime leaf and puffed wild rice was a work of art on both the visual and taste fronts. From the dueling textures of the silky fish seared super hot just to mark it and the crunch of the pear, to the hint of sweet and heat, and the unexpected earthy mushroom, the dish was absolutely divine.

Sisters Starry Nights Returns with KEB' MO'

Crowell, Suzy Bogguss, Gary Morris, Hal Ketchum and Kathy Mattea.

Thanks to the event's sponsors and concert audiences over the years, and to the performers who donate their talents, Sisters Starry Nights has now raised more than $1.5 million for the Sisters Schools Foundation and continues to support areas such as band, choir, art, science, Interdisciplinary Environmental Expedition (IEE), technology, athletics, field trips, language arts and more.

"We can't wait to welcome the great Keb' Mo' back to Sisters and bring Sisters Starry Nights back to the community," said co-chair Jeri Fouts. "His music is meaningful, heartfelt and uplifting, and he is considered a national treasure in the music business. It will be a very special night and a way for the community to come together in a positive way to support our students, teachers and schools during challenging times."

The presenting sponsor for this event is Sisters Fence & Deck, founded by longtime Sisters residents Pat and Stephanie Burke. Both Pat and Stephanie grew up in Sisters and attended the public schools, giving them a deep appreciation for the educators who helped shape the town. They note that "Sisters Fence & Deck is proud to celebrate the return of Starry Nights and its continued impact on arts, education, and the greater Sisters area."

Other key sponsors include Ray's Food Place, Hawk's Haven Reserve, Bi-Mart, Sisters Woodlands, the Sisters Community Foundation, First Interstate Bank, FivePine Lodge and Spa, Sisters Meat and Smokehouse, MidOregon Credit Union, XPress Printing, Studio Gearbox and Breedlove.

Anyone interested in participating as a sponsor or purchasing tickets can email info@sistersstarrynights.org or contact Carrie Cohen of the Sisters Schools Foundation at 541-408-4850 for more information.

Reserved seat ticket sales will begin on February 12 at 10am.

FILL THE TOWER WITH LOVE on Valentine's Day!

High Desert Chamber Music's (HDCM) Concert Series returns on Saturday, February 14, at 7:30pm with a special Valentine's Day performance. The program features works inspired by love and romance, and concert-goers will receive a rose and treat from Goody's Chocolates. This concert is brought to you by German Master Tech and will take place at the Tower Theatre.

This concert features the Central Oregon debut of the New-York based Tesla Quartet, praised by the International Review of Music for their "superb capacity to find the inner heart of everything they play, regardless of era, style, or technical demand." The Tesla Quartet takes its name from the famed inventor Nikola Tesla and draws inspiration from Tesla's relentless pursuit of new ideas, bringing a distinctive voice to the chamber music world, and combining technical mastery with fresh interpretations that captivate audiences.

Tickets are available through HDCM online, by phone, or in person at their office in Downtown Bend. HDCM 2025-2026 title sponsors include Washington Trust Bank and Lynch Murphy McLane LLP, Pahlisch Homes, Miller Lumber, German Master Tech, Pine Tavern Restaurant, Drew Family Dentistry, Cascade School of Music, Cascade A&E, Central Oregon Daily, and Newstalk KBND and 107.7 Radio.

High Desert Chamber Music's mission is to bring world-class chamber music and musicians to Central Oregon. Join us in our eighteenth season and experience the impact that live musical excellence can bring to our community! Come hear the music!

NEW PERSPECTIVE FOR 2026

ARIES~ The need to be responsible takes over the first half of January. Everything gets easier after the 20th. Find some quiet time in February and listen to your intuition when making choices. Big decisions after the 14th will lead to new beginnings. Step back during the first part of March. Do what you love after the 6th and realize a little bit of structure after the 30th will be helpful. Lots of new beginnings during April give you hope and the incentive to move forward. A change of plans after the 24th will be exactly what you need. Take care of business during the first part of May and believe that you have what it takes to create what you want. Nurture yourself after the 19th and remember why self care is important. Use what you have learned in June and it will help you build a future. A change of direction will be necessary in order to move forward. Patience is required in July and taking your time will make a big difference. Many things are changing and you will need to adjust. Relationships become a priority in August so remember those dear to you. Be mindful of the people around you and be sure to choose loving words. September is intense and it will be helpful to slow down. Think about what you want next before you take a leap of faith. Situations are changing in October and endings are possible. Remind yourself to be kind to yourself and others. November brings healing so keep your heart open to what is happening. Stay true to yourself and remember who you are. Let go in December and take a chance if you feel ready for a big change. Do what you are good at and realize you are ready.

TAURUS~ Welcome cooperation in January and use it to make change. Be ready to adjust your plan during the second half of the month in order to keep moving forward. Listen to your inner voice in February and trust what you hear. New beginnings at the end of the month will require decisions. Choose loving words in March and be grateful to those who are helping you. Have faith in the process as the month comes to an end. Be flexible in April if you want a fresh start. Keep it simple and appreciate the support you receive. Ask for what you want in May and be ready to what happens next. Make a plan near the 18th and then follow it. Slow down in June and let yourself rest. Somethings will take longer than you thought. Think before you speak in July and consider keeping your opinion to yourself. Opportunities are available if you are willing to be honest about what you want. Be mindful in August and realize what your body needs. Doing something that is good for you will be helpful. Appreciate your relationships in September and remember to be grateful. Listen to the insight of others and let them assist you in your journey. Step back in October and realize where you need to let go. Emotions are complicated and endings are very likely. Regroup in November and notice what needs your attention. Take your time as you rebuild parts of your life. Speak up in December and be honest about what you need. Be willing to do the work and realize it's up to you to make new choices.

GEMINI~ Take care of responsibilities as the month begins. Everything speeds up after the 20th. Find quiet time in February and let yourself rest. Make a point of listening to your body and your higher self. Be willing to wait in March and realize your time will come later. Create a plan at the end of the month and be mindful of following it. New beginnings in April happen quickly and it's important to feel ready. A change of direction at the end of the month will be necessary. Speak up in May and choose loving words. Slow down at the end of the month and pay attention to details. Rearrange something in June and notice what a difference this makes. Put yourself first and you will feel much better. Try something new in July and realize it is smart to be selfish. Be grateful to your relationships in August and remember how helpful they have been. Focus on yourself in September and leave others to take care of themselves. Realize some things are simply going to need more time. Emotions could be confusing in October so be sure you are honest about how you feel. An open heart will help everything work out better. Watch and wait in November and let go of trying to fix other people. An optimistic approach in December will make a big difference. Smile and remind yourself that you can move forward.

CANCER~ Make a decision in January and be ready to follow through. Change is strong after the 20th and it will be important to stay open. Listen to your higher self in February and be honest about what you hear. Be patient in March when somethings take longer than expected. Good news comes after the 19th and will be worth waiting for. Mind your own business in April and let other people do the same. Keep it simple after the 9th and realize you can do a lot on your own. Create a plan in May and realize you may need to adjust it. Do something to make your home more comfortable. Revisit an old situation in June and be honest about what you are learning. Keep your thoughts to yourself and simply take care of your needs. Be happy for others in July and trust that your time will come in the near future. Watch and be aware that some things are not what they seem to be. Ask for what you want in August and be sure you are specific. Move slowly after the 11th and pay attention to details. Say "Yes" to something new in September and be sure to stay open to the possibilities. Follow your heart after the 10th and notice where it leads you. An emotional October will help you clarify your situation. Opportunities are available when you are willing to let go of the past. Listen for the messages in November and let them guide you. Solutions are available after the 25th so be patient with the process. Trust what happens in December and you could be delightfully surprised. Follow the instructions that are given and you appreciate the guidance.

LEO~ Decisions are made in January and you will need to be patient with what happens next. Change after the 20th could come quickly and it's important to stay flexible. Step back in February and get ready for what is coming. More decisions after the 14th will require you to make a choice. Trust yourself in March and keep all explanations simple. Move slowly after the 30th and be sure to follow the rules. Move forward in April and celebrate what is coming your way. A change of heart on the 24th will open doors for your future. Make a list in May of all of the things you want to do. Talk about your ideas after the 17th and be patient with those who are listening. Do what you love in June and realize how important this is. Take care of your body in July and do what is good for you. Be willing to try new things and notice how they make you feel. Speak your truth in August and be sure to choose loving words. Understand that you can accomplish more by moving slowly. Listen to your relationships in September and respect the people who support you. Work behind the scenes in preparation for what's coming. Shine your light for all to see in October and notice how good that feels. Share your happiness with everyone. It's back to business in November so take care of what needs to be done. Hard work will pay off in the long run. Be a leader in December and do it in a way that other people want to follow. Remember that honesty will inspire others to support you.

VIRGO~ Make a plan in January and ask for help to make it happen. Changes after the 20th are unexpected and will require quick thinking. Blind faith is necessary in February in order to move forward. Trust your intuition and do what feels right. New beginnings in March require a plan and healthy boundaries. Talk about your needs and make them important. Keep it simple in April and let go of trying to fix the situation. Information comes available after the 15th and things will make more sense. Follow the rules in May and pay attention to details. Listen to your body and make healthy choices. Choose your words carefully in June and be as honest as possible. A plot twist after the 28th could make you question what to do next. Patience is required in July and it's important to follow your heart. Opportunities are available when you are honest about what you want. Speak up in August if you want to make big changes. Take the necessary steps if you feel ready. Ask for help in September and stay open to being supported. Move slowly until the 30th then get ready for everything to speed up. October may feel like a roller coaster, filled with ups and downs. Let your emotions show if you want assistance. Talk about what's in your heart in November and consider all of your options. Take action after the 25th and realize it is time. Keep going in December and you could be amazed at what you achieve. Stay focused on your goal and remember what is important.

LIBRA~ Be strong in January and realize the decisions are up to you. Listen to yourself and do what you know feels right. Think about your happiness in February and encourage yourself to be selfish. More decisions need to be made after the 14th and it's important to act quickly. Keep it simple in March and let go of needing permission. Remind yourself that you know exactly what you want. Check in with your body in April and do what makes you feel best. A fresh approach to an old situation will make it easier to move forward. Something from your past may need your attention in May. Speak openly and honestly and it can resolve quickly. Multi tasking will become normal in June and you will get a lot done. Take pride in your work and do everything with integrity. Patience is necessary in July until at least the 23rd. An optimistic approach will be helpful. Listen to your heart in August and give relationships your attention. Remind yourself who and what is the most important. Conversations noticeably improve in September and it's easy to ask for what you want. Be open and honest if you expect people to help you. Relationships are challenging in October when emotions become intense. Be gentle with yourself and those around you all month. Situations improve in November and it's still important to be kind. Choose loving words when talking about difficult topics. Clear your slate in December and make space to do something new. Think positive as you find yourself leading the way.

SCORPIO~ Choices need to be made in January that will set the tone for the year. Be brave and do what you know is best. Listen to your intuition in February as it guides you to move forward. Realize more decisions need to be made before the end of the month. Keep your life simple in March and consider taking time for yourself. Step away from responsibilities a bit and let yourself relax. April brings more choices and you need to decide quickly and then move on. Hesitation will only complicate the situation. Check in with your physical body in May and be honest about what you discover. Do whatever it takes to help you feel healthy. Create a plan in June and follow it step by step. Realize you are the only one that knows what you really need. Opportunities could be distracting in July so be sure you have time before you commit. Take care of what you already have on your plate before you put more on it. Delegate some of your duties in August to those who have more free time. It's good for you to let other people help. Find a creative outlet in September and remember how important this is. Enjoy something that you love. Emotions are strong in October and it will be important to find time to relax. Remind yourself that being selfish can be very good for you. Talk about your feelings in November and remember to be patient with others. Words are intense after the 11th and it's important to be gentle. December is a time to be optimistic and hopeful. Have faith that you are making good choices.

SAGITTARIUS~ Be patient in January and realize you are involved in an important process. Use kind words and have faith in your outcome. Have faith in February as you discover that some things take more time than you thought they would. Decisions are made after the 14th and you will be glad you waited. New beginnings are plentiful in March and you can celebrate what is happening. Smile and be grateful for the changes. A fresh start in April is exactly what you have wanted. Share your joy with those around you and know you have made a good choice. Hard work is required in May and you will need to remind yourself that this is all part of the changes. Believe in the people in your life and let them help you. Life slows down a bit in June so take time to relax and enjoy. Unexpected things at the end of the month will turn out just fine. Opportunities begin to show up in July and it's important to stay open to new experiences. Be honest with yourself about what works for you. Conversations are helpful in August especially after the 9th. Listen with an open heart and realize what you need to do. Appreciate your relationships in September and show them how much you care. Remind yourself that you need to let other people help you. Emotions are strong in October and you need to be patient with yourself and others. Realize there is more to life than just working and find time to play. Develop a system in November that will help you be more efficient. Share your ideas and listen to what the people in your life are saying. December is full steam ahead and it will be important to remember to be kind. Choose loving words in all of your conversations.

CAPRICORN~ Take charge of your life in January and make the necessary changes. You know what you want to do and you realize it is time. Find a gentle approach in February and everyone has their own way to do things. Watch and learn from what you observe. Keep it simple in March and find time to do something you enjoy. Make space for something new in your life and realize how important this is. Open your heart to the people around you in April and let them show you how much they care. Give yourself permission to be loved and supported. Create a plan in May that includes all of what you want to do this year. Be honest with yourself about what you truly desire. Listen to your loved ones in June as they share their feelings with you. Be compassionate about their needs and realize how much they trust you. Do what you love in July and realize how important this is. Speak your truth to the people in your life and understand that they want to hear how you feel. Do something special for yourself in August and promise yourself that you will continue to do this. Look back on the plan you created and be sure you are following it. Slow down in September and get ready for what's coming next. Take good care of yourself so that you can feel as healthy as possible. Do some soul searching in October and discover that it's time for healing. Forgive yourself completely and know that you deserve this. Find peace in November and be grateful for the choices you are making. Listen to your inner dialog and be sure you are being supportive. December is about celebrating everything that have done this year. Be proud of yourself and begin making a new plan for next year.

AQUARIUS~ Create a plan in January and realize how many changes you want to make. Remind yourself that you need to do the things that you enjoy. Trust your intuition in February as it begins showing you what you need to do next. Be honest with yourself and get ready for what's coming. New beginnings in March are just the start of more changes in the near future. Be optimistic about your ability to create an amazing life. Make yourself important in April and take care of whatever you need. Keep it simple and realize your happiness matters. Follow your plan in May and pay attention to the details. Remind yourself that this is your idea and that you can do this. Slow down a bit in June and find time to regroup. A little relaxation will make a big difference. Try something new in July and discover how good this feels. Remember that you thrive when you are joyful. Appreciate your relationships in August and remember to tell them how you feel. Let your gratitude show in the way that you treat the people you care about. Open your heart to the people who love you and let them support you in your journey. Say "Yes" when given new opportunities and remind yourself how lucky you are. Be honest about how you feel in October and let your feelings inspire you to do something important. Look at your life and notice the changes that you have made. November is a time to let go of what no longer works for you. Remind yourself that you are simply making room for more happiness. An optimistic attitude in December is contagious and will be inspirational to others. A kind a loving approach will make a huge difference in what happens next.

PISCES~ Decisions are being made in January that will impact the rest of this year. Share your joy with those around you and let them celebrate with you. Your intuition is very strong in February and it is important that you listen. Be honest about what you hear and get ready to make the changes. New beginnings in March are just the beginning of more to come. Trust yourself enough to be excited about what you are learning. Take a leap of faith in April and believe in your ability to succeed. Stay focused on your happiness and continue to make it important. Slow down in May and pay attention to details. Remind yourself that you are both smart and capable. Find some quiet time in June and listen to your inner voice. Check in and be sure you are taking good care of yourself. Take care of a lot of little things in July and realize you are tying up loose ends. Remember that this is necessary in order to move forward. Spend time with those you love in August and share your dreams with them. Let them know that you are making your happiness important. Follow your heart in September and find joy in what you are choosing. Feel what a difference you are making in your life simply by choosing what you love. Explore new things that offer a deeper connection with yourself in October. Rediscover how amazing you are and feel grateful for what you are learning. Quiet time in November will make a big difference. Trust enough to feel what your body wants to do next. December is a time to celebrate yourself and begin making a plan for next year. Be grateful for all that you have done for yourself.

Toriizaka Art features a diverse selection of curated work from accomplished artists, with rotating exhibitions. "Art, like music and good food, nourishes and sustains us. Art that makes you think, stops you in your tracks to admire its vibrance or jumps out and grabs you in some form is worth considering. We look forward to sharing the collection with our visitors," says Karen Thomas.

A REFRESH OF ART in Sunriver Galleries

by JIM FISTER

We welcome everyone to what we hope is a prosperous 2026. Last year was an exciting year with the growth of many of the galleries in Sunriver, and the addition of the gallery space at the Public Safety Building. With the new year, all of our spaces are rotating to exciting art that highlights the fun and beauty of Sunriver.

The Betty Gray Gallery of art at the Sunriver Lodge is currently showing its always-popular Youth Art Challenge upstairs. These young and talented artists range from fourth to eighth grade, and are showing their interpretation of the theme: "To my future self." These delightful pieces show the future of art in Central Oregon, with a variety of mediums. Nearly all of the pieces are for sale, and patrons may contribute to any or all of the artists to encourage them to keep producing their works. This show will be on display until the end of January.

Downstairs, the Betty Gray Gallery is featuring the wooden sculptures of local artist Jim Fister. Jim finds cast-off woods and creates pieces that allow the wood grain to show flow and direction, which creates composed pieces that highlight the wood rather than tooling. Jim's show will move to the Public Safety Building in mid-January, and will be featured along with the photography of Barb Gonzalez. The Public Safety Building space is open weekdays from 9am to 4pm. It is located at 57455 Abbot Dr. between Circles 3 and 4 in Sunriver.

SUNRIVER EXHIBITS

Metal art by Anton Yakushev

The Artists' Gallery in the Village at Sunriver offers a wide range of original art. Treasures range from original art greeting cards and bookmarks to fine art pieces that are family heirlooms. In the month of January, the Gallery features two fine art standouts - Bonnie Junell, oil painter and Aanton Yakushev, metal sculptor. What better idea than visiting the Gallery for the Second Saturday Celebration and enjoy libations and laughter while viewing the works of these two incredible artists. The fun happens from 4-6pm on Saturday, January 10. Snow attire is more than appropriate, and guests may drop in for a quick visit or spend the entire afternoon.

Nancy McGrath Green Gallery

Fiber, Fabric and Story opens on January 11 at the Nancy McGrath Green Gallery and runs through March. The exhibit highlights 12 artists who are using fabric, mixed media and other textiles in surprising ways. It invites them to share the stories behind their work - their inspiration and process. There will be an opening reception Sunday, January 11 at 11:15am. The gallery is open weekdays, 1-4pm and directly after church service on Sunday.

Fine Art in the NEW YEAR

by DENI PORTER

The Artists' Gallery in the Village at Sunriver offers a wide range of original art. Treasures range from original art greeting cards and bookmarks to fine art pieces that are family heirlooms. In the month of January, the Gallery features two fine art standouts - Bonnie Junell, oil painter and Aanton Yakushev, metal sculptor. The fun happens from 4-6pm on Saturday, January 10. Snow attire is more than appropriate, and guests may drop in for a quick visit or spend the entire afternoon.

Bonnie Junell has been a popular and successful painter at the Gallery since the doors first opened. If you have met the artist, you know that Junell is a whirling dervish of energy and talent. Junell labels her painting style as "expressive realist + impressionist painter." Whether the subject includes snow skiers or local mountains and rivers, just know that each piece is bursting with mood, emotion, and energy. The artist is well known for dynamic depictions of nature and life in and around Sunriver. Her use of a looser approach to painting figures and objects provides realistic scenes, but the color and textures convey the dynamic emotion of the moment. Like all fine paintings of this style, Junell's pieces are beautiful for use of "marks" made by her brushes and the colors that make the piece sing!

Junell also teaches extremely popular oil painting classes at the Gallery. Oh, and you also get to drink wine and eat chocolate! See the Gallery's website for additional information.

Anton Yakushev, metal

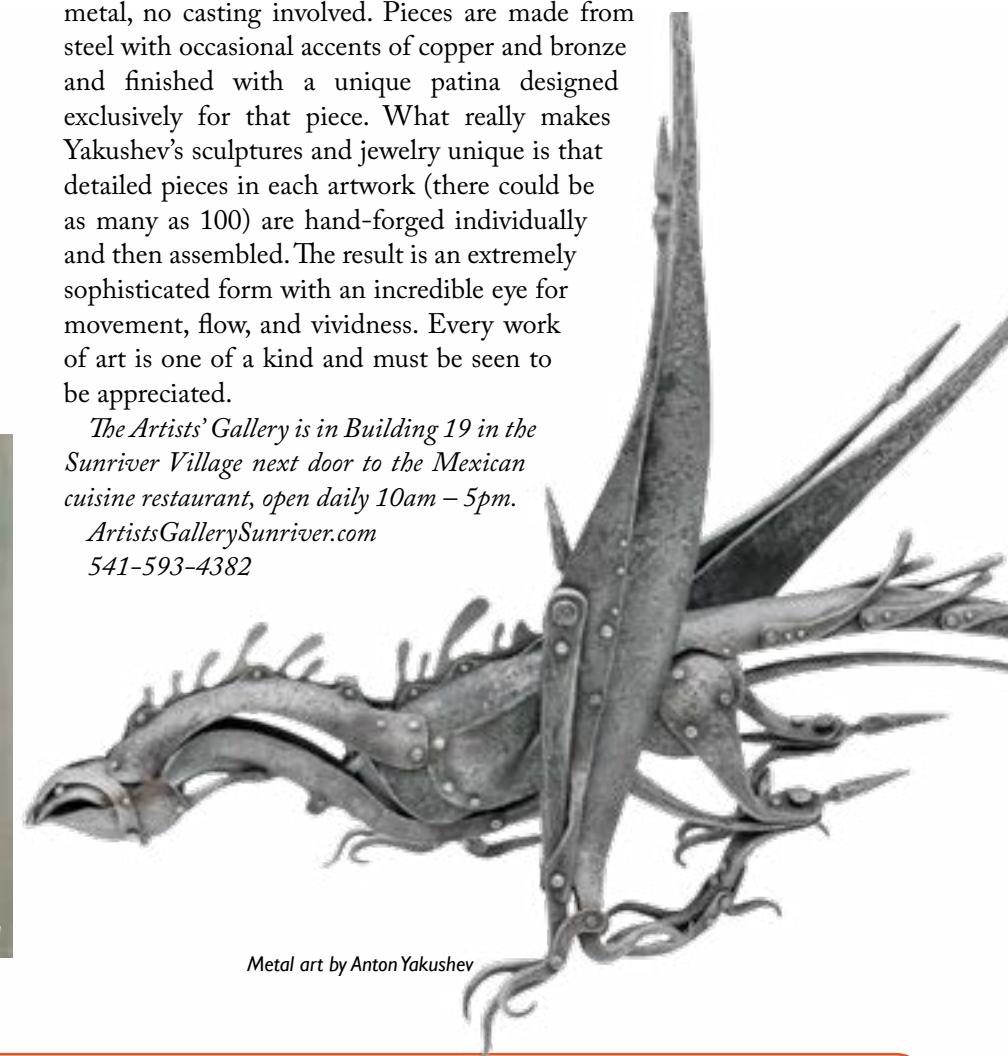

Oil painting by Bonnie Junell

sculptor, is a bit newer to the Gallery. Yakushev has been working with art metal for more than 18 years, and his work has been exhibited nationally and internationally. The artist creates metal works of art of varying themes and dimensions. Each piece is handcrafted with extraordinary attention to detail. Every intricate piece is hand forged from bare metal, no casting involved. Pieces are made from steel with occasional accents of copper and bronze and finished with a unique patina designed exclusively for that piece. What really makes Yakushev's sculptures and jewelry unique is that detailed pieces in each artwork (there could be as many as 100) are hand-forged individually and then assembled. The result is an extremely sophisticated form with an incredible eye for movement, flow, and vividness. Every work of art is one of a kind and must be seen to be appreciated.

The Artists' Gallery is in Building 19 in the Sunriver Village next door to the Mexican cuisine restaurant, open daily 10am - 5pm.

Painting Magic in Acrylic with David Kinker

Thursdays, December 4 - April 30, 9:30am-12pm

Build your confidence and broaden your expressive range using dynamic painting principles. Integrate strong brushwork and confident color choices into more complex compositions that tell a story or evoke a narrative.

David is well-known for his murals installed in regional landmarks.

His abstract art has won awards and his local landscape art offers a glimpse into the beauty of the Northwest.

Classes open to all on drop-in basis. Students supply their own drawing and painting supplies. To register, contact dkinker@bendbroadband.com

Creative Reset: A Mid-Winter Return to Flow with Kristen Phillips February 7, 10am-5pm

Join Kristen Phillips in this workshop designed to help artists and non-artists reset creative energy and reconnect with imagination as the living source that makes creativity feel alive. Through short teachings and simple drawing practices, participants will explore how to loosen perfectionism, calm the mind and rediscover flow. By the end of the day, each student will create a symbolic image that gathers your discoveries into a personal reminder of flow and imagination.

Materials to bring: Sketchbook or several sheets of mixed-media paper 8.5 x 11 or larger, pens and pencils of your choice including colored pens, brush pens, watercolors or highlighters, a notebook or journal and your choice of drawing and painting tools you prefer to use.

Kristin Phillips is an artist and teacher whose work bridges fine art, art history, and depth-informed creative practice. She explores how imagination, symbolism and process can serve as pathways to self-discovery and renewal.

Kristin presents grounded and accessible practices that invite people to reconnect with creativity as a living source of meaning and flow.

All skill levels are welcome, cost: $125. Limited to 10 participants.

For more information and to register, contact kristenphillips.art@gmail.com. Deadline to register January 31, 2026.

Texture Meets Shape with Gerlinde H. Gelina February 21, 10am-5pm

Push the boundaries of abstraction and explore the interplay between texture, form and composition. With acrylic paint and collage paper, experiment with layered surfaces, gestural strokes and well-placed mark-making to create works that balance spontaneity with structure. No experience needed — just curiosity and a willingness to play with paint and paper.

Gerlinde is an abstract artist who moved from Germany to Bend in 2019. Her art is inspired by people's stories and the colors she finds in her daily life. Each painting develops a personality and invites the viewers to find their own story between the lines, colors and shapes. GelinaStudioArt.com.

Materials list will be sent upon registration.

Cost: $100 for members, $120 for non-members.

For more information and to register, contact Susan Richman at vildalovesbend@gmail.com. Limit to 10 participants.

Broken Canyons: Using Art to Journey with Grief with Kathleen Veenstra March 15, 22, 29, 1pm-5pm

Join Kathleen for this workshop to discover the healing power of art. Learn how it can serve as a tool for folding grief and loss into one's life. While it may not be a cure or a substitute for medical or therapeutic care, one can discover how when creating art words aren't necessary. The connection between heart, heart and hands helps express feelings. Participants do not have to be an artist or have any particular artistic ability to participate and benefit from this class.

Kathleen Veenstra has experienced the deepest grief with the loss of a son and has found solace in art, music and nature. Kathleen is a retired clinical counselor and artist. She has more than 30 years experience as a therapist and has been "making stuff" since childhood.

Kathleen has a master of fine arts degree from Michigan State University and masters in counseling psychology from the University of Mexico. Kathleen has offered this class at the College of Santa Fe and as a grief support group at Hospice of Redmond.

All materials are provided. Participants may supplement with their preferred media if desired.

Cost: $165 for SageBrusher members; $185 for Non-members. For more information and to register, contact Kathleen Veenstra at ktv87544@gmail.com. Registration opens December 31, 2025. Limit to 12 participants.
